Danny Sharp has a need for speed!

Danny Sharp has been obsessed with racing cars since forever. He loves playing racing computer games with his best friend Carl, and talking Formula 1 whilst helping his equally car-mad dad fix up motors in his spare time.

Then Danny gets an amazing opportunity – to do work experience at the Malloy team's F1 headquarters! Not only are they Danny's favourite F1 team, their best driver is Danny's hero, Scot Devlin! Danny is over-the-moon until he arrives at Malloy HQ. Though the team are great, and Danny's right in the thick of the action, there is something strange going on. Someone is out to destroy Scot Devlin ... and not only that, someone wants to sabotage Danny's own chances of success in his first ever karting race. Can Danny clear his hero's name AND save the day?

Speed Machines is the adrenalin-fuelled first book in the Danny Sharp series by author Jonny Zucker. Fast-paced and exhilarating, Zucker captures the electric atmosphere of racing and pairs it with suspense and intrigue, to create a brilliant new series that car-crazed boys will love, and a new hero even the top F1 drivers would admire.
